Wednesday, February 8, 2012

8:00am – 8:30am      Check in & Continental Breakfast
8:30am – 11:30am    Seminar

PCC Willow Creek Center at 241 SW Edgeway Drive Room 103, Beaverton

Never in the history of the United States have there been four generations in the workplace at the same time. It is imperative that we understand how to create a work environment that enables all four generations to be successful while still getting the work done!

This interactive presentation is an introduction to the four generations currently co-existing in the workforce Traditionalists, Baby Boomers, Gen X, and Gen Y. We will examine the characteristics, influences and stereotypes of each generation and what makes each generation tick. In addition, this workshop will provide examples of ways to best communicate with the different generations and provide you with ideas on how to best interact.

About the Speaker: Grant Axtell is a Learning and Development Specialist for the Oregon Employment Department, a state agency with more than 40 offices and 1200 employees all across the state. Joining the department in 2004, he coordinated, developed, and delivered training for the launch of three call centers within the department.

Grant holds degrees in public policy and administration and speech communication from Western Oregon University. His areas of expertise include customer service, leadership development, generational diversity, and facilitation.
